HOW DO WE STACK UP against

Do our activities develop citizenship training? Janice Belk, treasurer of the Art Club, collects dues.

Do our activities develop abilities for future careers?

Student teacher, Nancy Brown, takes the place of an absent teacher as a part of her duties as a member of the F.T.A.

Does our curriculum meet the standards suggested by authorities? Able to select their courses and teachers, these students sign up for classes on registration day.

Are our students prepared to do college work? Here, seniors, Pat Cauble and Sarah McCurry, receive applications to Lenoir Rhyne College from the registrar.

the recent studies made of the American high school?

In today's modern age of space and science, much attention has been focused on the educational institutions in America. Many studies have been made and books published on what is considered to be the ideal American high school. Many schools were visited by these experts before deciding on the ideal school—yet, no one visited HHS. Therefore, this is our own report on HHS and how we stack up against these studies.

Work between the parents and teachers for the betterment of the schools constitutes the heart of the P.T.A. Here Miss Usrey and Mrs. Hayes, vice-president, discuss a report on changing the report cards.

OUR CITIZENS ARE AWARE

Seeking to receive federal aid for the science department, committee chairmen, Mrs. Lackey and Mrs. Reese, make final plans for their report with principal W. D. Cottrell.

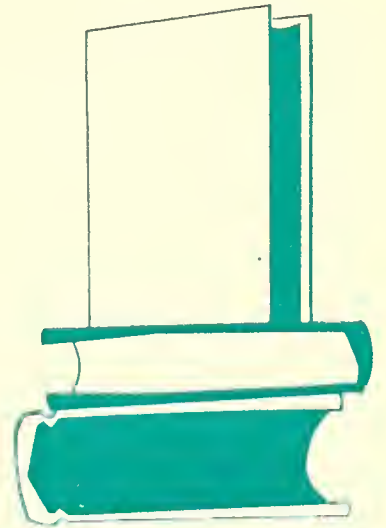

Always striving to learn new trends in education, Dr. W. T. Nau, chairman of the school board, prepares to leave for a convention of school administrators in San Francisco.

A series of articles comparing HHS with a recent study of American high schools was published in the Hickory Daily Record. Here the managing editor, Mr. Floyd Powell, types a story.

Having investigated recent studies on education, Judy Hardin reports on the findings to the economics class.

OF STUDIES MADE TO IMPROVE SCHOOLS

Outstanding civic leaders, serving as members of the building committee for Hickory's proposed new vocational school, examine the plans.

THE SCHOOL 12

Classes meet the individual needs of students.

Judy Barrier decorates the window in the D.E. department with the assistance of Jane Steelman.

EXPERTS LOOK AT EACH PHASE OF SCHOOL LIFE

STUDENTS 34

Students are familiar with analysis from I.Q. to job preparation.

In study hall, new sub-juniors come "dressed-up" as a part of their induction into the club.

ACTIVITIES 84

Activities combine many learning experiences.

A French Club International weekend enables students both to learn about other countries and to have fun at the same time.

ATHLETICS 115

Athletics stimulate cooperation, competitive spirit, and sportsmanship.

Cheerleaders arouse the crowd to cheer loudly at the Homecoming game.

FEATURES 142

Features create interest for students.

Here Bobby Jamison crowns Shirley Baker Homecoming Queen while Ginger Speagle, George Moretz, and little Beth Church look on.

ADS 163

Ads provide knowledge of community and business acumen.

Allen Huffman and Phillip Poovey look at a picture of Hickory's business district while Donna Havnaer checks it with ads in the Loc.

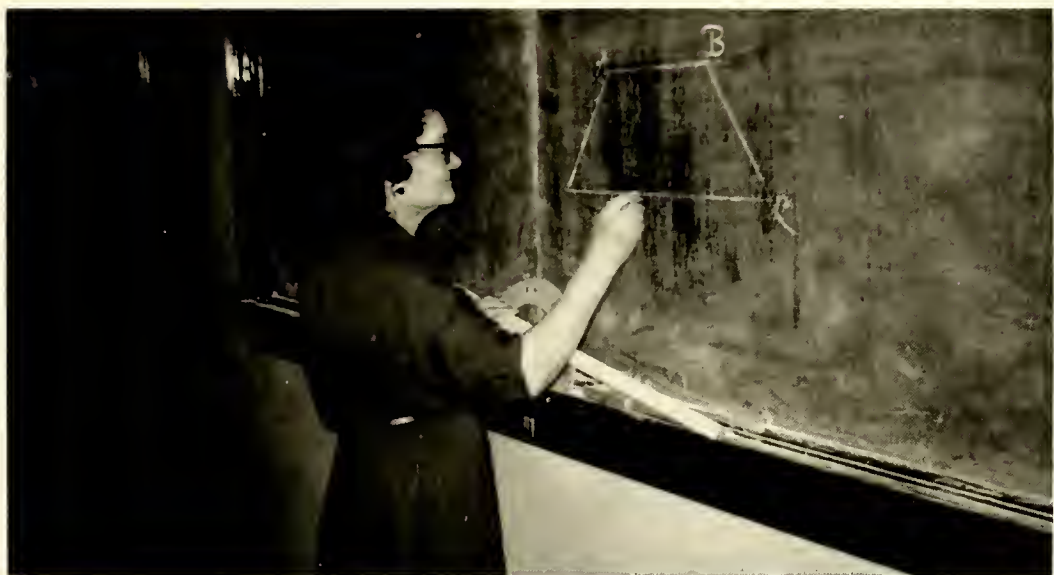

AN INSPIRATION TO TEACHING

To one who spends much of her time in devotion to her students, whose sincerity and fairness endear her to all, whose untiring efforts in support of the Future Teachers of America has been an inspiration to many to enter the field of teaching, who accepts the progress of her students as ample thanks for her efforts, we, the students of Hickory High, dedicate this 1960 Log to Miss Lelia Shore.

Willing to give up much of her time to advise the F.T.A., Miss Shore discusses plans for a convention with F. Beattie, B. Rudisill, and J. Eckard.

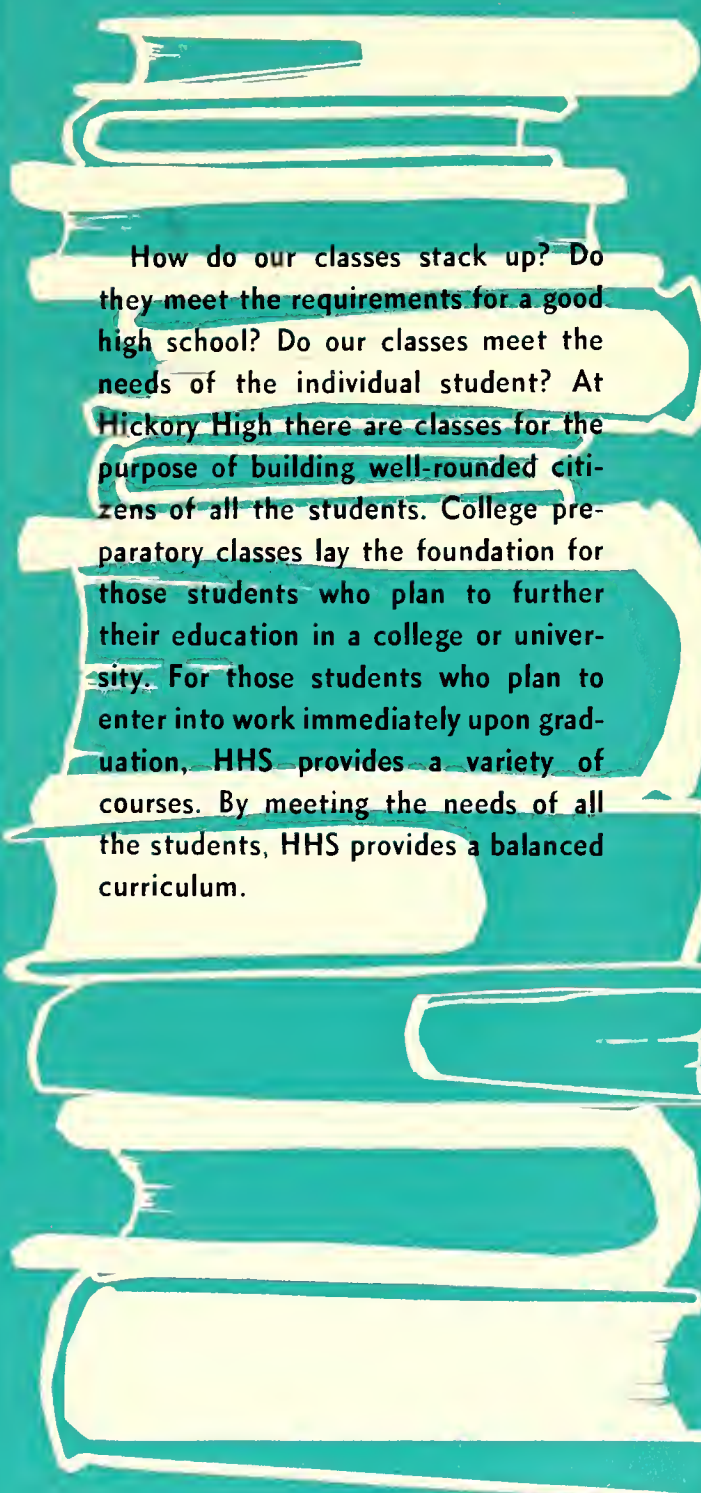

TO ONE WHOSE SERVICES ARE SHARED BY FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Explaining a problem in geometry class, Miss Shore is constantly helping her students in any way possible.

QUALIFIED FACULTY, CLASSES TO FIT NEEDS IN

How do our classes stack up? Do they meet the requirements for a good high school? Do our classes meet the needs of the individual student? At Hickory High there are classes for the purpose of building well-rounded citizens of all the students. College preparatory classes lay the foundation for those students who plan to further their education in a college or university. For those students who plan to enter into work immediately upon graduation, HHS provides a variety of courses. By meeting the needs of all the students, HHS provides a balanced curriculum.

OUR SCHOOL

In his second year as Superintendent of the Hickory City Schools, Dr. W. M. Jenkins has done much for the advancement of the city schools. He received his B.S. degree from Wake Forest, his Master of Education from Duke, and his Doctor of Education from U.N.C.

"There are three requisites for the successful operation of a high school: first, a school board composed of intelligent, honest, devoted citizens who understand that their function is policy-making, and not administration; second, a first-rate superintendent; third, a good principal."* Taking time from their active lives in the community, the members of the School Board always strive for improvement within the school system. With the help of Dr. W. M. Jenkins, superintendent of city schools, they have completed their plans for the new addition to Hickory High. The Board has also approved the program of supplementary classes to be held this summer. Under the leadership of Principal W. D. Cottrell, the school is kept up to date with recent developments in education.

Dr. James B. Conant*

ADMINISTRATION MEETS DR. CONANT'S REQUISITES

Principal W. D. Cottrell thumbs through student files, gathering facts so that he may better advise his students.

Performing their daily tasks in the school office, Mrs. Earl Shuford, secretary, and Mr. Washam, assistant principal, are busy issuing permits and answering the telephone.

Mr. Harold Hewitt, business manager for the city schools, and Mrs. Helen Kasset, secretary to Superintendent Jenkins, begin their work for the day at the administration building.

QUALIFIED INSTRUCTORS TEACH BUT FIND TIME

"Given a good school board and strong leadership by the superintendent and principal, an excellent group of teachers will be recruited, and it is hardly necessary to emphasize that on the quality of the teachers (assuming wise leadership) the quality of the education must ultimately depend."* Ten HHS teachers have received advanced degrees in teaching, while others are attending Saturday classes and summer school in order to obtain these degrees. Not just teaching, testing, and filling out reports compose teachers' duties. They are also advisers to organizations and counsellors to students. Among their activities during school time are serving on hall, yard, lunch line, and bus duty.

*Conant

H.H.S. teachers are always willing to help and encourage students. Here, Mr. Bruton, who did much to arouse interest in the "Crime Prevention" contest, presents Jerry Sipe with a check for his winning essay, as an Exchange club member looks on.

Exercising one of his daily duties, Mr. Jim Garrett collects lunch money from a student while others wait patiently in that seemingly unending line.

A look of amazement is clearly evident upon the face of Mrs. Vivienne Stafford when she learns that the 1959 Loc has been dedicated to her.

FOR OTHER DUTIES

Autumn Friday nights mean ticket selling for football games. Here Mr. Hollar serves his duty (and hopes that the line will end soon).

Mrs. Havnaer, who is in charge of the testing program at HHS, looks over the results of the merit scholarship tests.

Always willing to guide and counsel his students is principal W. D. Cottrell who is celebrating his twenty-seventh year at HHS. A graduate of V.P.I. and Appalachian State Teachers College, he has done much for the advancement of HHS.

Loc members Nancy Shuford, Mary Yoder, and Lynn Hall study Dr. Conant's book, THE AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL TODAY, in order that they may be prepared to compare HHS to it.

Teachers are used to the many reports that they must fill out each day. Here Mr. Rankin makes out his morning reports.

THE THREE MAIN OBJECTIVES OF A HIGH SCHOOL ARE . . .

Among the many studies that have been made concerning the American high school, that of Dr. James B. Conant is one of the most outstanding. In the following pages the academic standing of Hickory High will be compared to that of the ideal school possessing these three requisites stated by Dr. Conant: "First, to provide a general education for all the future citizens; second, to provide good elective programs for those who wish to use their acquired skills immediately on graduation; third, to provide satisfactory programs for those whose vocations will depend on their subsequent education in a college or university."

Parts of Macbeth, recited by Joyce Correll and Jack Bass, provide both learning and entertainment to students of Miss Huggins' regular English class.

As their classmates look on, two members of Coach Washam's health class exhibit their skill on the rope.

... TO PROVIDE A GENERAL EDUCATION FOR ALL THE FUTURE CITIZENS ...

June Brittain and Carolyn Brewer work on the classification of leaves and flowers as a biology project.

In order to be an asset to any community, all future citizens will benefit from a selection of courses which provide a good general education for them. A regular English class teaches practical grammar and literature. Through the biology and health courses, a student may learn useful information about plants and animals, especially the human body. In order to be well-informed on important events in the past and to keep up-to-date on the news, the future citizen should take advantage of the history and geography courses offered. The school library is a source of information on all subjects, and every student is well acquainted with it.

Making use of the information found in the library at HHS, these students find the library an aid to their studies.

Mrs. Cilley points out a country in Africa to her geography class in order to give them a clearer picture of its location.

Viewed every morning by the students of first period United States history classes is the history program taught on television.

Woodworking, a phase of the industrial arts class, is demonstrated by Jack Phelps and Jerry Mitchell.

... TO PROVIDE A GOOD ELECTIVE PROGRAM FOR THOSE ...

Learning by doing, these home economics students, Sandra Davis and Linda Shook, become proficient in their sewing.

Working with water colors, one of the many media used in Art class, are Harriet Pope, Peggy Rodd, and Billy Abernethy.

Linda Bowman makes quick work of her lesson assignment in shorthand.

With the help of an adding machine, Vivian Walters calculates a problem in her bookkeeping class.

Future secretaries and journalists, among many others, work toward perfection in their work in this Typing II class.

For the students who will not further their education by going to college but instead will immediately begin to work, Hickory High offers a wide selection of courses. The future homemaker finds the home economics class helpful in learning to cook, sew, and perform other household duties. This opportunity also aids the girls who will be cooks, seamstresses, or housekeepers. Bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand are necessary to secretaries and offer help in other types of work. Boys interested in shop work benefit from the industrial arts classes. Talented art students receive practical information which may be used in their future careers.

An interesting and educational activity of the economics class is their trip to the First National Bank to elimax their unit on banking.

As a part of the journalism class's campaign to promote "Journalism as a Career," Mike Hendrickson prepares a bulletin board in the main hall.

. . . WHO WISH TO USE THEIR ACQUIRED SKILLS
IMMEDIATELY ON GRADUATION . . .

Gaining experience in acting in the dramatics class, Caroline Ulrey performs a pantomime for her class as her teacher, Miss Bowman, looks on.

Actual participation in the world of business is an aid to the members of the D.E. and D.O. classrooms. Learning the practical as well as the social side of business, the economics and sociology students acquire valuable knowledge concerning their future occupations. The dramatics class offers practice in both acting and directing to the students of the theatre, and, at the same time, future writers have a chance to develop their skills in the journalism class. Providing a solid foundation for the future actors, salesmen, artists, writers, homemakers, secretaries, and many others, these classes enable the high school graduate to enter successfully into his chosen field.

After spending half her day in classes, D.E. student Sheila Hollar works until six or later at the Winn-Dixie store.

Working in a business is only a part of their studies in D.O. as is pointed out by Lynn Miller and Tommy Crump who begin their D.O. classwork.

Preparing to engage in the study of a new subject during the second semester of school, Mrs. Sigmon gives out the Sociology books as Brenda Houck looks at one.

Advanced English affords students the opportunity to work on a unit of study at their own speed. Peggy Watson and Pat Cauble prepare a debate to be presented in an advanced class.

... TO PROVIDE PROGRAMS FOR THOSE ...

Acting as a guidance counselor to HHS students, Mrs. Havnaer discusses scholarship applications with Don Schort.

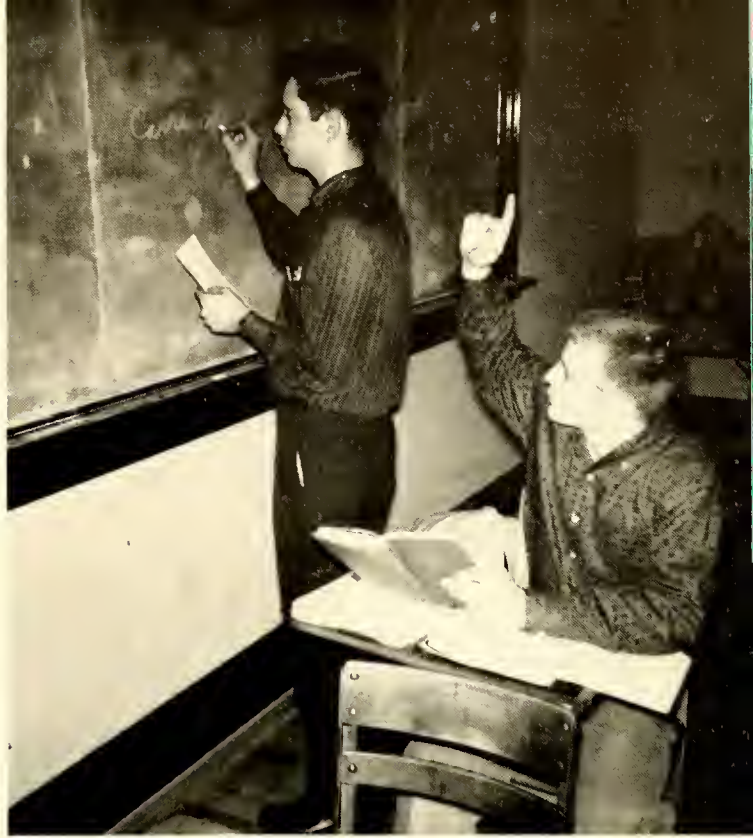

By adding a little humor to his world history class, Mr. Garrett makes the lesson more interesting to his students.

To keep students informed about world affairs, David Erwin and Carl Cline arrange bulletin board in Miss Shuford's French class.

Students seeking the cultural benefits and specialized training for a future vocation which a college education provides find the HHS curriculum well-balanced and adequate. All solid, basic subjects required for entrance by colleges and universities are offered. Advanced English raises requirements above those of regular English classes and thus it is presented on a correspondingly higher plane. College-bound students engaged in studying French, Latin, or Spanish at HHS obtain the necessary foundation needed for future foreign language study. To help students make those all-important decisions about their future college plans, experienced guidance counselors are on hand.

"Daily work is important in Latin," claim Frankie Fox and Tommy Golden as they actively participate in the classwork.

Performing his duty as Spanish teacher, Mr. Hollar helps a questioning student with her lesson.

Miss Shore explains a difficult problem in Algebra II to a confused student.

Gaining experience for college exams, Kenneth Yount begins to study early for those dreaded semester exams.

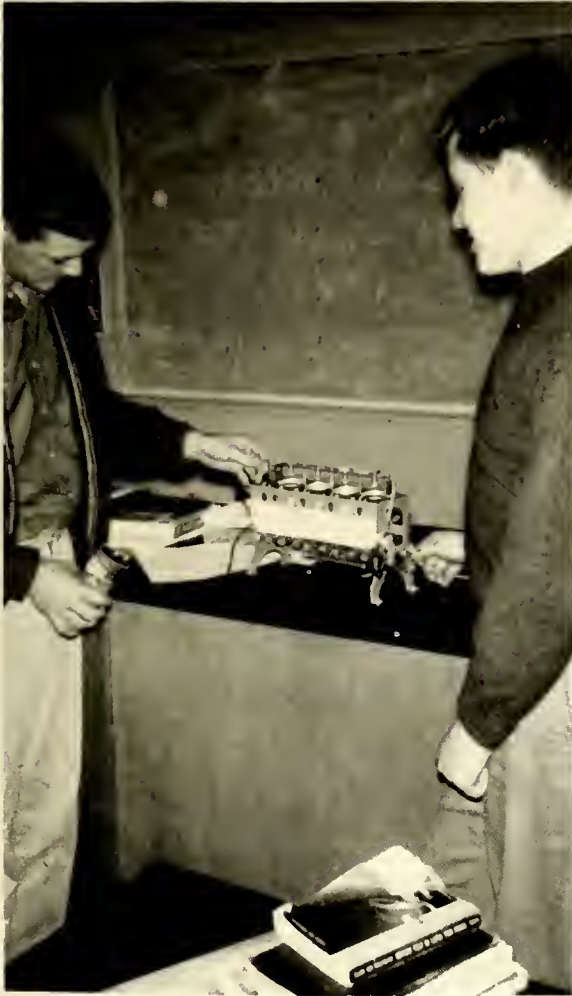

... WHOSE VOCATIONS WILL DEPEND ON A COLLEGE EDUCATION

Learning the precise and accurate use of the tools needed in mechanical drawing, Billy Abernethy gains much valuable experience.

Students inclining their interests toward science and mathematics have been provided with a list of subjects from which to choose, all corresponding to their needs. Physics and chemistry are two basic sciences taught at HHS. A thorough knowledge of both is essential to all science majors as a background for tackling more advanced scientific studies. Algebra and solid geometry, indispensable aids to future scientists as well as mathematicians, are also taught at HHS. Mechanical drawing teaches students the fine points of accuracy and design. Never to be avoided, however, no matter what the subject, are those fairly recent additions to HHS—semester exams.

Jimmy Finley and Danny Lonon, in their study of physics, perform an experiment while explaining it to the rest of the class.

Solid geometry, made clearer by an illustration by Miss Starnes, holds the attention of these mathematical-minded students.

Lighting a bunsen burner is Ramsay Abernethy as he prepares to set up an experiment in chemistry.

DIFFERENT IN LOOKS, LIKES—A STANDARD ONLY TO THEMSELVES—

Though a school and its activities can be compared to a set standard, the students cannot. Students differ in many respects, and rarely, if ever, can a group of students agree on a subject. Each has his own personal ideas and preferences that no amount of study and discipline can change. This variety of characteristics stacks up to an average high school student who would probably never be recognized by his fellow students.

The students, at the end of four years of being compared, compare memories of fun and excitement that will never dim through the years to come.

STUDENTS

A sophomore works in the classroom under careful teacher supervision. Here Lorry Jahnsan receives help on his algebra from Miss Smyre.

Sophs stick close to school. Eating in the lunchroom as Kenny Hovis does is typical while his Senior counterpart may be out eating hamburgers.

The difference between the life of a Sophomore and that of a Senior is evidenced here in the Poovey home.

THAT OF A SENIOR?

Seniors are busy with outside activities. Here J. Eckard, S. McCurry, L. Hall and T. Dana participate in a Quill and Scroll service.

Seniors study, too, but on their own, and often in the library. Sally Todd and Mike Philips search the card catalogue for a book.

Seniors have fun. The climax of the year is Senior Week, a whole week of leisure. Here a group of Senior boys cut up before graduation practice.

Martha Poovey watches sister Kitty, a Senior, get ready to go to Jr.-Sr., while she must stay at home and study.

CLASS OF 1960

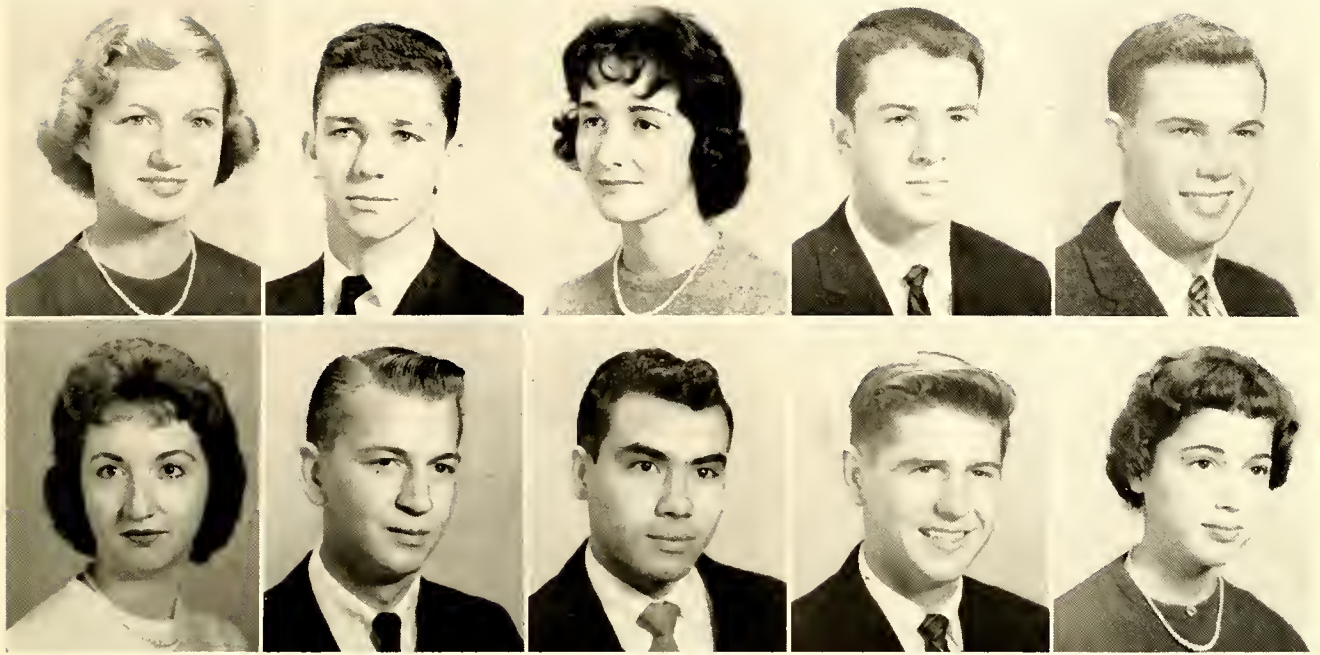

Senior year is a year filled with events that will remain in memories for a long time. It is not only the big events, such as the Senior play or the Junior-Senior Prom that will be remembered, but also the little experiences, such as buying cards or measuring for robes. Seniors, besides having a load of classes to carry, have the responsibility of being the heads of clubs and publications. This brings back memories of burning the midnight oil and busy Saturdays. Seniors will remember scholarship tests and entrance exams with a shudder of horror. Final exams complete the year's quest for knowledge and Senior week begins. Following this is the event that remains steadfast in memory—graduation.

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY IMPOSTERS—DIGNIFIED SENIORS

By the Senior year, students have learned to grab their fun wherever possible—here Bob Niminger, Frances Fickling, and John Setzler create a banquet from Mr. Rankin's doughnuts.

C L A S S O F 1 9 6 1

Frantic joining of clubs, hard work, and added responsibility compose the Junior year. With a great deal of work, much imagination and fun, the Juniors produce a Junior-Senior Prom. The Junior Class Play offers experience in acting and preparation. Along with all their extra curricular activities, Juniors combine their vocational studies with after-school jobs. The chance to serve as Junior Marshals at graduation balances the tension of the Juniors' hectic schedule. During all this busy activity, Juniors are looking forward to their Senior year and their own graduation. But Juniors will look back and remember the experiences of this year even after they have become glorified Seniors.

ARE HARD WORK, BUT LOTS OF FUN

Juniors combine fun and work as they present a business session of their Pajama Club in a study of parliamentary procedure in English class.

CLASS OF 1962

Sophomore year is a year of becoming adjusted to a new school and new ways, such as various club activities, segregated stairways, and endless homework. Projects and papers bring blank stares and semester exams produce horrified gasps. Sophs have their first try at hunting leaves and wild flowers, and building geometry projects. Registration is a madhouse of rushing about hunting for teachers, bumping into people, and being run over. The first day is an experience never to be forgotten. Sophs can't find their classes. They block traffic on the steps, and are late to class because they forget that they have only five minutes to change classes. But from the excitement of the Sophomore year emerges a student—experienced and confident for the trying years ahead.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

LEISURE TIME IS FOUND AT ODD MOMENTS AND IN ODD PLACES

These Sophomore girls must find their leisure time in odd places and at odd times. They congregate on the stairs and talk as fast as they can, as this is the only chance they have for comparing notes on clothes, boys, teachers.

MANY LEARNING EXPERIENCES COMBINED IN

Contrary to some people's beliefs, fun and fellowship are not the only benefits derived from the organizations at HHS. The main reasons for the formation of clubs are service and learning experiences, and these two objectives are clearly realized when one takes a close look at the groups. Projects for the benefit of school and community are abundant. From Hickory High's clubs guides are obtained for special meetings, the community is informed of the events which take place in our school, materials are purchased for different departments, scholarships are presented, needy children and families are helped, and experiences which will be useful to students in their life's work are obtained.

ACTIVITIES

ACTIVE CLUBBERS LEARN MEANING OF SERVICE

Working together, the clubs at Hickory High presented a Homecoming dance. Senior boys Don Hammersa, Jack Bass, Gene Cannon, Weston Hawn, and Dean Proctor, offer their talents for the decoration committee.

President of the Student Council Bobby Jamison officiates as sophomore students campaign for the offices of their class.

Kay Childers, Library Club member, helps Richard Jackson select a book for his outside reading.

Members of Sub-Juniors vote to continue to award two scholarships to deserving students this year.

Barbara Rudisill examines some of the film which was bought for the French Department by the French Club.

Lighthearted Quill and Scroll members prepare decorations for the Sock-Hop scheduled for the night after Homecoming. Concentrating on their work are T. Dana, D. Havnaer, F. Hayes, G. Speagle, R. Cansler, and S. Frye.

On registration day members of the Student Council and the FTA are on duty to collect cards and to help any puzzled students straighten out their schedules.

STUDENT COUNCIL

A representative of the Student Council, Patsy Couch, and a member of the Homeroom Representatives, Arthur Saboski, discuss plans with S. C. adviser, Mrs. Lackey, for the next Boy and Girl of the Month election.

Composed of twelve outstanding students, four from each class, Student Council members are elected on the basis of leadership, capability, character, and scholastic record. The chief purposes of the Council include the development of a democratic school spirit, the advancement of student-faculty co-operation, and the encouragement of worthwhile school activities. Student Council delegates from HHS attended the State Student Council Convention in Raleigh as well as the district convention in Shelby.

COUNCIL COORDINATES STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Keeping students informed on Council and other school activities means frequent appearances of The Root. Here councilors gather news in office.

HHS football players always look forward to the after-game sandwiches prepared for them by the Student Council members.

Urging a football program sale are B. Jamison and P. Brady. Their prospective buyers are Faith Hayes, Mrs. C. Abee.

Fleming, M. Elam.

Students learn to represent larger

Keeping an orderly lunch line is one of the responsibilities of Homeroom Representatives. Arthur Saboski cautions Mitchell Starnes and Jerry Cates that they must remain in line.

HOMEROOM REPRESENTATIVES

In order to assist the Student Council in their many activities, a student is elected from each homeroom, forming a group known as the Homeroom Representatives. Members of this organization, elected from each homeroom, act as a lower house of the Student Council, informing their homerooms of business taken up by the Council. Not only do they represent their room at a monthly meeting in which they present the candidates of Boy and Girl of the Month chosen from their homeroom, but, this year, they have the additional duty of keeping the lunch line in order.

groups in various projects

PTA REPRESENTATIVES

Boosting the P.T.A. membership drive, the P.T.A. Representatives play an important part in this organization—strengthening the relationship of the parents, teachers, and student body. Besides annually raising money for the school budget, the P.T.A. also sponsored the Homecoming Open House, a new project this year. The representatives' other duties include telephoning parents in order to remind them to attend all of the P.T.A. meetings, and reporting to each homeroom what had taken place at the previous meeting.

"Don't forget to remind your parents that the PTA meeting will be held tonight," Representative Peggy Watson warns Sarah McCurry.

Knowing that good pictures are necessary for a successful annual, makes the job of selecting pictures more difficult for Ginger Speagle, Lynn Hall, and Nancy Shuford.

LOG EDITORIAL STAFF

Inquiring about the color, theme, or dedicatee of the Log is to no avail, for Loggers keep these secrets well guarded until the much anticipated distribution of the annual.

Fifth period each day finds the Editorial Staff "knee-deep" in captions, write-ups, film, and flash bulbs, yet all members are stimulated by the '59 Log's All American rating from N.S.P.A., Medalist rating from C.S.P.A., and a first place trophy from S.I.P.A. Slowly, but surely, the school's whirl of activities are recorded in the school's annual, the Log.

LOG BUSINESS STAFF

Hearing the adding machine is a general occurrence when somebody walks into the Log business room during fifth period. The business staff's managers may be adding up the number of Logs to order or the numerous amounts of smaller expenses.

Because this staff is recommended by the Merchants' Association, the ads section represents many of Hickory's stores and factories. Selling ads is just one of the functions of this staff. After all the ads have been collected, the students plan and make the layouts.

Phillip Poovey, Donna Havnaer, and Allen Huffman are busily compiling a list of all the subscriptions which the staff sold.

BI-WEEKLY TWIG KEEPS STUDENTS

On Fridays after the Twig has been distributed, editorial staff members meet to plan the scoops and stories to be in the next issue.

TWIG EDITORIAL STAFF

Writing and preparing the Hickory Twig is no small task for the newspaper staff. Hours of hard work are spent each day turning out a bi-weekly paper that serves as a record of activities for the student body, and journalism experience for the staff. Last year rewards for their work were a 'Medalist' ranking from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association; the Quill and Scroll International Honor Award as well as being chosen for the second consecutive year as the best paper in its group by the Southern Interscholastic Press Association; and the Gallup Award for its "well-written stories and attractive format."

First row: S. Bain, S. Todd, Advertising Mgr.; D. Bowman, Business Mgr.; J. Eckard, Exchange Mgr.; B. Bowles, J. Hasty. Second row: E. Shuford, D. Honeycutt, N. Brown, D. Abec, S. Brown, E. Steelman. Third row: Mr. Emery Hollar, Adviser; J. Reitzel, R. Cecil, J. Hardin, I. Scott.

INFORMED AND WINS NATIONAL HONORS

On Thursday night after folding all of the Twigs Jimmy Hasty, Eric Shuford, Beverlee Bowles, and Julia Eckard take time to read some of the outstanding articles.

TWIG BUSINESS STAFF

Each year around 325 subscriptions are taken in by the Twig staff; however, selling ads to Hickory merchants is the main means of financing the paper. On the Thursday night before the paper comes out, the staffers meet to fold the Twigs so that they will be ready for distribution the next day. Along with their other duties the members of the staff are in charge of circulating the Twig to the High School and to both junior highs. In order to get a better understanding of other schools, the paper is exchanged with schools all over the nation.

Sketching ideas for the top secret Leaves cover necessitates the concentrated efforts of the art staff.

LEAVES STAFF

Jacks of all trades is the name that fits the Leaves staff. The Leaves, composed of poems, short stories, and essays, is published to encourage students to be creative in the field of writing. In order to raise money, the staff sold advertisements, compiled the Student Directory and held numerous bake sales. A member of both the Columbia Press Association and the Southern Interseholastic Press Association, this staff has won several honors, and was asked to edit the poetry page in the March, 1960, issue of The School Press Review.

RADIO STAFF BROADCASTS FROM LOCAL STATION

Recording part of Saturday's program occupies the time of Mary Ellen Spencer and Pat Cauble during fifth period.

RADIO STAFF

Acquainting the public with the school news and activities is the main function of the Radio Staff. This is accomplished by the program "Hickory High Speaks." The program is sponsored by WIRC to promote interest in broadcasting and to help develop broadcasting talent. On Radio Day the members present the programs, sell ads, and write the continuity for these ads. The profits from this day provide scholarships to a deserving staffer at the U. N. C. Radio and Television Institute. Winning the S.I.P.A. trophy for the best program of the year was a reward for the tireless efforts of these broadcasters.

Plans for presentation of the Cobb fund to U. N. C. are discussed by Mrs. Allison and Sarah McCurry.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Ranking high among HHS activities is the Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for students possessing journalistic abilities. The club achieved local recognition for their diligent work and numerous projects. The Twirp Dance, Hickory Daily Record Day and Student Directories are some of the projects sponsored by the club. Plans this year included making a contribution to the U. N. C. Journalism Foundation in memory of the late Miss Beatrice Cobb, for whom the club was named. Members of the various staffs are recognized at the Awards Banquet in the Spring.

FOR WORTHY STUDENTS WHO EXCEL

BETA CLUB

To maintain good grades and to hold a high scholastic record are the two main objectives of members of the Beta Club. The Beta Club of HHS is a member of the national organization and is organized to honor outstanding scholastic leaders. To be selected for membership in this club, students are chosen for their fine character, able leadership and outstanding achievements. Junior members serve as Junior Marshals at the graduation exercises. New members are selected in the fall and after mid-term exams.

Sally Todd, program chairman of the Beta Club, runs off copies of next week's program.

Discussing plans for the softball season are Key Club members Charles Bock and Cecil Duncan.

KEY CLUB

A number of underprivileged children had their Christmas made cheerful last year when the Hickory High Key Club had a Christmas party for them. Each child was presented gifts from under a gaily decorated tree. Funds were derived from the annual soap and candy sale.

Being interested in sports, the Key Club took an active part in the local baseball league this season.

This civic minded group, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, holds its regular meetings at the Viewmont Baptist Church.

SUB-JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

"One, two, three, hup!" came from feminine mouths during the annual Powder Bowl game. This lively football contest between the Junior and Senior club members provided a laugh for the spectators and money to help finance the club's projects.

Among the activities of the club this year were awarding college scholarships to Hickory High and Ridgeview students, collecting food for needy families at Thanksgiving, and sponsoring a clothes drive just before Christmas.

BEAUTIFICATION OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS AND

Officers of the Garden Club, Joyce Correll and Patsy Couch, collect money for one of the club's school beautification projects.

GARDEN CLUB

Co-operating with the Hickory Garden Council, the Hickory Nut Garden Club worked to make Hickory beautiful in a city-wide clean-up campaign. In order to put across this campaign members presented a skit, "Don't Be A Litter Bug." In their meetings, held once a month, the garden-clubbers were taught how to use the flowers of different seasons for decorations in the home and how to make dried arrangements and corsages.

Another of their important projects was the planting of azaleas to beautify the school grounds. This project added much to the appearance of the school during the Spring.

GROUPS IS ACCOMPLISHED BY DISPLAYS AND PROJECTS

Creating linoleum block prints may be messy and mean a lot of hard work but the beautiful results are worth it all to Harriet Pope and Linda Pless.

ART CLUB

Amazing and breathtaking works of art are turned out by students in Hickory High's Art department and Art Club. Last year many prizes were won by art students and also by the school for backing the students in their interests. Among the various creations the prizes were awarded for were typical works done in the art classes each day, such as oil paintings, masks, and mosaics. These art displays are also on exhibit each year at the Hickory Museum of Art, the Hickory Women's Club, the City School Administration Building, and HHS. This club travels to Raleigh each year to visit the State Museum of Art, and for the first time Art Club pins are being distributed to the members.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

D.E. Club of HHS copped the Sears Roebuck Achievement state award for the chocolate sales last year. The club also rated the state's top award for the public relations in their community project. This dealt with improving relationships between stores and the public. The main project this year is the "where-and-why you buy" campaign, dealing solely with local stores in which students purchase articles and reasons for their patronage. A follow-up survey is being made on former D.E. students to find how they are succeeding in their present occupations. D.E. and D.O. clubs combine to have their annual Bosses' Banquet to which the students' employers are invited.

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS CLUB

With a head start in their various occupations, members of the Diversified Occupations Club at Hickory High gain valuable information at their club meetings concerning skilled trades such as machinists, automobile mechanics, electricians, hosiery mill workers, doctor and dental assistants, nurse's aides, and commercial cooks. Every student enrolled in the D.O. classroom is included in the club and has this chance to practice parliamentary procedure and to plan club activities. The object of D.O. is to develop trade and industrial education in the public school system of Hickory. A Bosses' Banquet is held annually to honor the students' employers.

Filling out monthly reports takes time and concentration from bus drivers Mitchell Starnes, Jerry Cates, and Dennis Danner.

BUS DRIVERS

One hundred and eighty days a year Hickory High bus drivers are greeted by many sleepy hellos. But soon noise is deafening and quietness long forgotten. Later the drivers are left the job of cleaning the buses. After going through this each day, they thoroughly realize the responsibility placed upon them when they become bus drivers for the Hickory schools. These boys must be constantly on the lookout for traffic dangers and they must obey traffic laws. The bus drivers spend three hours daily driving the buses and one day each month preparing a state bus report.

HOURS OF SPECIALIZED SERVICE TO MANY

Judith Yount is putting the finishing touches on a library bulletin board designed to encourage reading.

LIBRARY CLUB

Research papers, biology projects, and special reports not only affect the students to which they are assigned but also spell W-O-R-K to the student helpers in the library. The members of the Library Club aid their classmates and librarian by stamping, shelving, and locating books and creating the bulletin boards in the library. In November members attended the South Piedmont District convention and entered a member of their club as a candidate for president of the district. In April they entered the club scrapbook in a contest at the state convention.

FRENCH CLUB

Keeping up-to-date on what's happening in French-speaking nations of the world, sponsoring the AFS program and always planning something—that's the French Club! Composed of eager-to-serve, second-year French students, the club keeps a scrapbook, provides the French department with many visual aids, helps the foreign exchange student, plans the international weekend, and finances these projects by a potato chip sale. This year, selected members joined the National Honorary French Society.

MATERIALS PURCHASED BY TWO LANGUAGE CLUBS

After a home basketball game these HHS fans were entertained at an open house by the Spanish Club members.

SPANISH CLUB

With several projects completed, activities running smoothly, and plans being made for the future, the members of the newly organized Spanish Club feel that they have already accomplished a great deal. In order to develop an interest in the Spanish language, customs, and countries, these second-year students formed their club. By selling candy in various sections of Hickory, the members of the club were able to supply the Spanish classes with extra educational materials. The club has planned an annual party which will be the peak of the social activities each year.

BAND

Practicing in the rain and mud did not dampen Hickory High's Band. In the Southeastern Marching Contest, held at Bristol, the band won a Division I trophy.

The band played an important part in promoting school spirit in sports activities. Combining their marching and musical ability, the band gave half time shows at football games.

Under the leadership of Louis Bean and the assistant director, Robert Ellis, the band was awarded a two page spread in the First Chair of America. This book is composed of the most outstanding bands over the nation.

Several concerts were given during Christmas; another one was given in the Spring, honoring the graduating seniors.

The year's activities were climaxed when the band went to Daytona Beach in June. They were chosen by the Chamber of Commerce of Daytona to give a public concert on the beach.

CHORUS

Echoing through the halls of Hickory High School, the voices of the mixed chorus and the boys' and girls' glee clubs combine to serve the school, churches, community, and individuals as they strive to give Hickory a better understanding of fine choral music.

Under the qualified direction of Mr. Robert Ellis, the groups were the proud recipients of superior ratings in the State Solo and Small Ensemble Contest held at Davidson College and the State Choral Contest held at Lenoir Rhyne College.

The year's full schedule includes not only annual Spring and Christmas concerts, participation in the Choral Clinic at Mars Hill College, the State Choral Festival, and the State Choral Workshop in Chapel Hill, but also appearances before local clubs and organizations throughout the year.

WORK OFFERED TO CLUB MEMBERS

F. H. A.

Many fashion-conscious students of Hickory High were made aware of the changing styles when the Future Homemakers paraded forth in all the elegance of their creations at their annual fashion show.

Contributions of clothing and food and money derived from incidental bakesales made it possible for them to aid their adopted family at Christmas. The homemakers also donated money in order to help the North Carolina Future Homemakers buy a bookmobile. The club held a Future Homemakers Week in the Spring during which they had programs to promote a general interest of all toward homemaking.

After their work is completed, Janet Woods and other F.H.A. members take time out to examine their Christmas projects.

HARD WORK, THRILLING VICTORIES, DISAPPOINTING LOSSES.

ATHLETICS

Sports activities play an important role in the general scheme of high school life. Educators agree that these activities should occupy a secondary position in relation to the regular academic program. As evidence of the awareness and maintenance of a healthful balance between the two, HHS requires that certain regulations be adhered to. The examination of the academic standing of athletic participants and the policy that practice sessions be conducted after regular school hours are two outstanding examples.

ATHLETICS BENEFIT CHARACTER AS WELL AS BODY;

PROVIDE PRESENT THRILLS AND FUTURE SKILLS

Undoubtedly the source of the student body's enthusiasm, the cheerleaders promote School Spirit—an indispensable factor in the sports program. Their carefree jazz skits and ingenious cheers entertain and enliven the spectators and provide moral support for the team members.

Individually, these sports enthusiasts benefit with mental and emotional Adjustment—learning to accept defeat as well as victory. Preparing for a big game, Jimmy Sweezy and Tommy Golden are ready to meet their opponents and accept the game's result.

Influenced by the Sound Leadership of competent coaches, athletes improve their skills through continued application. Under the direction of Coach Garrett, linkster David Harrison perfects his swing.

Finding satisfaction in the rugged exercise, these athletes develop Teamwork; the results are clearly visible in the final scores. Much to their opponents' dismay, a long drive into right field adds to Hickory High baseball team's score.

Providing thrills and excitement for the fans, athletics train the Spectators as well as the athletes in the art of sportsmanship. Here a crowd on the field watches a track meet.

COACHES HAVE STRONG INFLUENCE ON ADOLESCENTS

IHS coaches spend hours every day coaching teams. They coach not only one season, but all year. Actually, they are doing two jobs, coaching and teaching. Each coach heads a different sport, but all help with the over-all sports program.

Coaches train students not only in sports; they train them in sportsmanlike qualities. By their examples, the coaches train the students in leadership, the ability to follow orders, and the ability to win as well as to lose.

CHEERLEADERS RADIATE ENTHUSIASTIC SPIRIT

Vitality is continually radiated by HHS's nine human dynamos—the cheerleaders. Through pep rallies, flavored with modern jazz skits, and pennant sales, they publicize the sports events, thus insuring support of the prided teams. Their tireless efforts to promote good sportsmanship and their contagious enthusiasm build school spirit, an indispensable part of the school sports program, and lead the teams to victory.

TORNADOES CAPTURE FIRST N.C.H.S.A.A. TITLE

Outstanding teamwork and play by the Red Tornadoes achieved the first NCHSAA crown held by H.H.S. In doing this, the Tornadoes ended one of its proudest gridiron seasons by being ranked number one in the state AAA high school ratings.

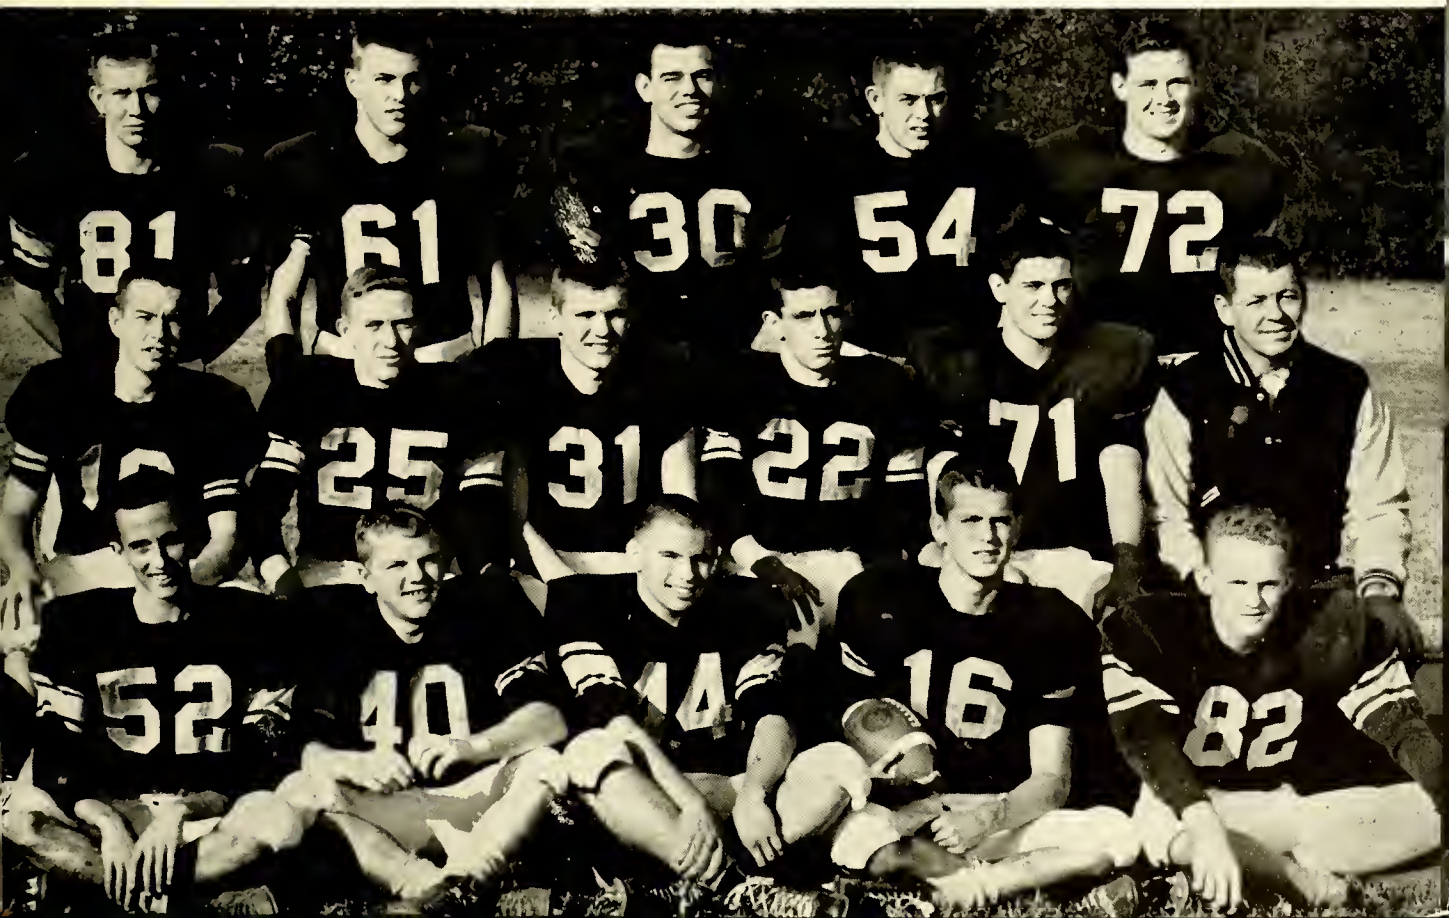

The Hickory High Tornadoes ended their tough schedule of conference play with an 8-0 record. Following this unbeaten path, they took the Northwestern Conference with a 38-7 rout over Shelby as they displayed their great offensive power. The following week the Tornadoes brought a crushing defense down on the Albemarle Bull Dogs to complete a perfect 12-0 record for the season.

Valuable blocking from All-State senior tackle Danny Lonon and center Marion Kirby helped the powerful All-State backfield of Richard Jackson, Larry Rudisill, and Eugenc Isenhour to pile up the Tornadoes' brilliant record.

At the annual awards presentation, half-back Richard Jackson received the "Most Valuable Player of 1959" trophy. Also elected by their teammates for "Best Blocker" and "Best Defensive" were Co-Captain Danny Lonon and Cecil Duncan respectively. Guard Gene Moser was voted the "Most Improved" player. Later at the football banquet, head coach Frank Barger and his assistants, Jim Garrett and Troy Washam, were presented gift certificates.

WESTERN N. C. CHAMPS WIN RATING OF NO. 1 IN STATE

Opening the season, the Tornadoes slashed Asheville 20-12. Key blocking and exclusive ground play helped Eugene Isenhour pick up 140 yards for the newly organized, closely knit Tornado team.

In the following week Jimmy Sweezy led the HHS gridders in routing a highly rated Hudson team 27-7 in the closing half of play.

Halfback Richard Jackson, averaging 14 yards per carry, led the Tornadoes in crushing an enthusiastic Lenoir team 35-7 to maintain a perfect record.

Marion went down 35-0 by tremendous line play—led by Gene Moser—which stunned the Marion Rippers into defeat.

Spirited Tornadoes held the Newton team scoreless in their fifth game, winning 47-0. Larry Rudisill stood out on offense.

A troubled Taylorsville team forfeited to the Tornadoes 1-0 in the following week. This brought the Tornadoes closer to the state title.

Offensively, the best game for HHS was Homecoming against Belmont. Hard driving tackle, Co-Captain Danny Lonon wrecked Belmont's forward wall to lead Hickory to a 60-7 win.

For the eighth consecutive win Sam Fowler sparked the Tornadoes to a 26-6 romp over the Wilkes Central Eagles.

As before, Tornado teamwork, led by Co-Captain Marion Kirby, downed their biggest conference rival, Morganton, 35-6.

Linebacker Cecil Duncan helped squelch an unexpectedly stubborn Valdese offense 25-7, as Hickory finished the conference with a perfect 10-0 record, becoming conference champions.

As predicted, the Tornadoes followed Charles Bock to a 38-7 victory over Shelby to obtain the WNCCHSAA title for the second time in a row.

Displaying conviction, Coach Gerald Allen of the defeated Shelby team discusses the game with the Tornadoes' victorious coach, Frank Barger.

EIGHT TORNADO PLAYERS RATE ALL-STATE HONORS

Tension seems eased as the Tornadoes on the bench watch their fellow teammates hold the opposing Marion team for no gain.

Arriving at their final goal, the Hickory High Tornadoes showed their powerful defense, sparked by Co-Captain Ralph Bowman, to a state AAA championship given by the N.C.H.S.A.A. with a tremendous 34-13 defeat over the Albemarle Bull Dogs.

This concluding their season, the Tornadoes fell only sixteen points short of breaking the conference scoring record for one season's play, while extra point kicker, Marion Kirby, set an all state record for extra points with 85% of his conversions being good.

Taking the Morganton opponents completely by surprise, quarterback Charles Young applies great effort as he scores the extra point.

H.H.S. Tornadoes are a happy team as they carry Coach Frank Barger off the field after winning the state championship.

Harassed by Morganton players, Richard Jackson dribbles for a fast break in the closing minutes of the game.

Starting out with a new coach, Mark Lyerly, and a rather green team, the HHS loopsters surprised their skeptic fans with two thrilling wins over a strong, four-A Gastonia team 44-39 and 39-38.

The Hudson Hornets proved a stubborn crew and the Tornadoes fell to their onslaught 60-40 and 57-43 to end their winning streak.

Trying to recover, the HHS boys downed Wilkes Central 43-24 and 44-38. Newton followed with a split in the games, taking the first 37-36 and Hickory the second 50-42.

In a further attempt to regain a tournament position, Hickory crushed the Taylorsville five 56-34 and 65-45.

Morganton had its own ideas about winning and divided their win with the Tornadoes, taking the first 52-49 and losing the second 43-36.

Hickory fell farther down the ladder by suffering two defeats, 53-45 and 65-43, at the hands of the Valdese Tigers.

Hickory bounced back to split with Lenoir 39-22 after losing 43-35 earlier.

In the best game of the year the Tornadoes triumphed over Marion 80-51 only to be robbed of their tournament chances by the Rippers with a 43-40 loss, which ended the season with an 8-8 record.

Jimmy Finley fires a long jump shot over the hands of a Newton defender.

TORNADOES BREAK EVEN WITH 8-8 RECORD

Eugene Isenhour out jumps an opponent to tip a rebound in for the score.

Eugene Isenhour led the Tornado scoring with 10 points per game, followed by Richard Jackson, who scored 132 points for the season. Captain Jack Bass, third highest scorer, was the spark of the team in attempting to make the tournament and even though the Tornadoes failed to make it, they still came out with a .500 average.

Eluding a Newton defender, forward Ralph Bowman scores with a back-handed crisp shot.

Newton and Hickory girls leap high for a free ball.

Teamwork paid off for the Tornadoettes as they placed second in the Northwestern Conference standings and were semi-finalists in the tournament play-offs. HHS ended regular season play with a 14-3 record.

Unleashing a dynamic spirit to win, Peggy Campbell, the leading scorer for the Tornadoettes, averaged more than 24 points per game. Beth Shuler struck swiftly for 15 points per game and Jo Green averaged 15 points.

Right handed pitcher Jimmy Power led the Hickory High School baseball team to its third consecutive Northwestern Conference victory by clouting Wilkes Central 13-1. Power ended the season with a perfect 5-0 record and a new conference earned run mark, a fantastic 0.24.

Hickory lost the WNCNAA championship semi-finals to Shelby by a score of 3-5. Top hitter for Hickory High was Brent Keever, with a final average of .571; Wayne Bowman led percentage-wise in the semi-finals, followed by Hoppy Huffman.

Hickory High's track team wound up its season by winning a third place in the association and a district championship. In the most successful season the Tornado thinclads had experienced in the last four years, Richard Jackson won three events in the Association meet to cop high scoring laurels. Jackson scored an amazing $98\frac{3}{4}$ points for the season, an average of 14.11 points per meet. Roger Cox was second high scorer with $56\frac{1}{4}$ points. In third place was Randy Shook with $23\frac{3}{4}$.

INTEREST CREATED . . . THRILLS PROVIDED

Memories of an eventful year fall into place as the year comes to a close. Throughout the year students have been honored for their various talents in the many fields which contribute to a well-balanced school. HHS has met Dr. Conant's directive: "The community should pay at least as much tribute to academic as to athletic talent." Honors recognizing the outstanding talents and contributions of students plus the highlighted events of the year and the simple memories comprise our FEATURES, the "added extras" that refresh our everyday routine.

MISS HICKORY HIGH

Homecoming Queen for 1959, Shirley Baker reigned over quite a different Homecoming from those in previous years. A dance at the Armory took the place of the usual parade. Shirley, chosen as queen for her sovereign charm and beauty, was crowned by President of the Student Body, Bobby Jamison. Ginger Speagle, escorted by George Moretz, was Maid of Honor.

Sylvia Setzer and several assistants represent the French Club by making the crown for the Homecoming Queen.

The Homecoming Dance, taking the place of the usual parade, provides fun and fellowship for the small portion of the crowd pictured above.

HOMECOMING DANCE REPLACES PARADE

Glancing into the mirror for a last minute check, Gail Stevenson, a homecoming sponsor, gives her hair a final brush before the big game.

Quill and Scroll members Richard Cansler, Genevieve Sigmon, and Donna Abee are putting the final touches on one of the many decorations for the Sock Hop.

HONORS

CARROUSEL PRINCESS

Chosen for her poise and beauty, Ginger Speagle, HHS Carrousel Princess, flashes a smile to her admirers during the Carrousel Parade in Charlotte. During her stay over the Thanksgiving holidays, Ginger's agenda included the parade, a formal tea, and the Carrousel Ball.

MISS HI MISS

Honored as Miss Hi Miss of HHS, Helen Bass attended a week-end at Winthrop College with fellow Miss-Hi-Misses from the Carolinas. Leadership, scholastic achievement, character, and appearance are a few of the qualities for which she was chosen. She is shown here making transportation arrangements for her "big week-end."

HONORS

GIRLS' and BOYS' STATE

Girls' and Boys' State Delegates, Mary Yoder, Danny Lonon, and Ann Robinette attended W.C.U.N.C. and U.N.C., for a week last summer to learn more about our government. Ann and Mary were sent by the American Legion Auxiliary, and Danny was sent by the American Legion.

BOY and GIRL OF YEAR

Elected as Boy and Girl of the Year of 1959 by their senior classmates, Jerry Huffman and Scottie Sue Gadd were noted for their enthusiastic school spirit, wholesome scholastic attitude, and significant achievements.

Forty of HHS's blossoming young ladies were contestants in the annual beauty contest which had the theme, "Garden of Beauty." The garden was decorated with yellow and blue flowers and latticework. Paul Newman, elected by HHS students as their favorite actor, chose the winner and the runner-up from the ten finalists. The profits which were made were used to send delegates to the S. I. P. A. Convention.

Even though they do not actually share experiences abroad, Miss Adclaide Shuford and Ann Robinette, AFS finalist, contribute greatly to furthering the AFS program. Shown above, they post a picture on France for a coming French Club program.

A. F. S. AMBASSADORS

Readjustment, filled with unforgettable events, composed A.F.S. exchange students' lives in their foreign homes. Wayne Preslar, who studied in Geneva, Switzerland, and Steve Vaughn, who studied in Milan, Italy, shared native ideas and customs with their new friends while acting as good-will messengers abroad. Formerly teaching at HHS and now residing in Heidelberg, Germany, Miss Jane Burns shared her teaching experiences at an army dependents' school with HHS faculty through correspondence.

MISS JANE BURNS

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Jazz music and winter sports were the activities most enjoyed by Stig Dagberg, our seventeen-year-old A.F.S. exchange student from Stockholm, Sweden. Adding a cheerful personality to the school, he conformed to the way of life of a typical U.S. teen-ager. Tall and witty, he made speeches about his own country to various clubs and organizations in and around Hickory as a part of his duties as an exchange student. Among his many HHS activities, Stig claimed honorary membership on the Student Council, in the French Club, and in the Key Club. During his stay, he lived with the George Hovey family.

STIG DAGBERG

KNOWLEDGE FROM TRAVELING STUDENTS, TEACHER

Preparing to engage in one of his favorite activities, listening to American jazz, Stig Dagberg puts on his top jazz record.

Practice makes perfect in typing, a newly acquired skill for Stig, who follows a regular course of study despite use of new "Southern English."

Collecting money for magazine subscriptions was one of the many tasks performed by the captains and their assistants during the annual Magazine Campaign.

Decorating to go with the Junior-Senior Prom theme, "Oriental Gardens," Phillip Poovey and Roby Jo West put last-minute touches on one of the many oriental decorations.

After a week's stay in New York while attending the CSPA Convention, weary, but happy Log delegates wait with their baggage at Pennsylvania Station for the train to take them home.

Rewarded for interest and effort, State Science Fair winner, Martin Violette, boards a plane to take him to compete in the National Science Fair. Mrs. Elizabeth Reese, chemistry teacher, accompanies him.

IMPORTANT EVENTS STIMULATE MEMORIES

Acting as Master of Ceremonies, Neill Clark introduces Hickory Daily Record reporter, Mrs. Helen Ross, speaker at the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet.

WE'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER THE BIG EVENTS BUT WE'LL NEVER FORGET . . .

. . . the day that we took our final semester exam. Proposing a toast to the end of exams, these students gather around their private banquet table, temporarily set-up in the school lunchroom.

. . . the day that we took the wrong stairwell. Here, just as Ernie Sills begins his flight up the girls' stairwell, he is caught by Miss Greever as she points her finger and says, "Now, Ernest, you just trot around to the boys' stairs if you want to go up."

... the days that we were almost drowned while loading buses in torrents of rain.

... the day that the grove was turned into a parking lot because of the lack of parking space.

... the day that we found our foreign car in a place where we didn't leave it. Scott Smith, Marion Kirby, and Ralph Bowman prove their strength by lifting Adelyn Ivey's Renault with helpless passengers aboard.

... the day that our seat in class was suddenly transferred to the hall. Pee Wee Hoke, above, occupies an honored seat in the hall after upsetting the class.

Expressions registered on several faces of the Senior play cast are contrasts to the audience's delighted reaction as they watch "Lady Be Good."

SUCCESSFUL PLAYS MEET

Under the efficient direction of Mrs. Ruby Carson and Miss Jane Burns, the Junior and Senior class plays, "More Room For Love" and "Lady Be Good," were lauded by teachers and fellow students. Opportunities other than acting were provided by various committees—set, prop, program, stage, costume, and ticket—necessary for a top production.

Make-up chairman Carol Livengood uses her skill in preparing Neill Clark for the Senior Class play lead.

A comforting hand from Julia Eckard and Pat Cauble doesn't seem to soothe Ginger Speagle in the Junior play, "More Room For Love." Unable to provide any consolation, Steve Vaughn and George Moretz look on.

Acting in a play requires more than memorizing the lines as shown here by Boyd Lee George and Larry Phillips, applying their stage make-up.

WITH ROARING APPLAUSE

Keeping George Moretz out of trouble is only one of Pat Cauble's jobs as his bossy Aunt Emily. Here they are shown practicing for the Junior play, "More Room For Love."

Needless to say, this is the "they lived happily ever after" scene from the senior play, "Lady Be Good," starring Neill Clark and Jane Burns.

... as a short-cut between classes. Warren Hall and David Erwin cut through the auditorium to avoid the first floor rush on their way to classes in the science building.

... as a study hall. Dennis Danner and Arthur Saboski prepare their solid geometry for the next class.

AUDITORIUM RENDERS

... as a place for chapel programs. Arthur Saboski, Cornelia Shell, Andrea Drum, and Wayne Lail present a comic operetta, "The Grasshopper," for delighted students and faculty.

... as a meeting place for clubs. Becky Deal, presiding over a French Club meeting, informs the members of coming activities.

MANY SERVICES . . .

... as a place for entertainment. Mrs. Jewel Church, F.H.A. adviser, helps Quilla Rozzelle with her outfit which she is preparing to model for the F.H.A. fashion show.

... as a place for assemblies. Steve Vaughn and Wayne Preslar, having just returned from their A.F.S. trips abroad, contrast HHS to their foreign schools.

JUNIOR MARSHALS LEAD SENIORS TO DIPLOMAS

Chosen for their high standards of character, leadership capacity, and scholastic ability, the Junior Marshals fulfill many important responsibilities during graduation. They are appointed from the junior members of the Beta Club each spring. Each marshal ushers, distributes programs, and performs other duties at the Baccalaureate sermon and the Commencement exercises. Selected for their superior scholastic achievements, the two chief marshals lead the seniors to their well deserved diplomas.

Chief Marshals Donna Havnaer and Steve Vaughn are ready to lead the Class of 1959 to graduation as the long-awaited moment draws near.

Upon the completion of Commencement exercises, Mrs. Havnar does her final duty for the seniors, that of taking-up caps and gowns.

GRADUATION

Discussing the graduation exercises and probably giving his idea of a perfect seat, Coach Clarence Stasavich of Lenoir Rhyne College is ushered down the aisle by Junior Marshal, Wayne Preslar, as Donna McMahan watches.

Happy expressions are noted on these graduates' faces after their final high school activity.

Sydia,

Thank you for asking me to meet the valley
you begin annual or ever what you call it.
Sydia I've known you for quite a while before this year, but this year I really understand you & you actors. I want to thank you for being my friend this year & it has been

Western Carolina Furniture enjoying. Sydia, I only wish I were one of your teachers in college later on, you have ability, combined Company with wit and an ingenious character, with a portion of friendliness & understanding personality. you are all around gold in my opinion. Sydia, I know we & you have had some differences in model thought, but if I've ever said anything to cut or lower your character it was accidentally, & I apologize. It was all in fact

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

if it has ever happened. Don't change, you are one in a million, & I consider you as one wonderful girl, & I feel privileged to know such a sweet & charming girl. This is my best, this is my honest opinion. Love
Sydia

all you always your friend always

I have really enjoyed knowing you this year. We really had some nice arguments in Sociology didn't we. I don't even know what they were talking about half of the time. You don't know how I appreciate that help with "Crime and Punishment". You are a very sweet girl Lydia and I admire you honest very much. Stay nice and always be kind-of-silly.

Dear Lydia, Well, last year this time I was telling everyone that we were serious next year. Now, I wonder next year serious freshmen we've had everyone be big time. We had what we'll be doing being serious. Don't say you enjoyed our little time!!! I think a lovely common sense year. I must say you enjoyed in England a few years ago. Oh crap? Adam? How had I lived a good time all year that I know you didn't have it, but I had had a company really been wonderful. I've really enjoyed your better and your've been wonderful.
